Pacers, Warriors score

Put end to identical 6-game losing skids

In a game that seemed destined to be another chapter in the Pacers' and Warriors' identical six-game losing streaks, the Pacers broke the curse on Tuesday night.

The Pacers, who had lost six straight games, defeated the Warriors 101-95 in a thrilling contest at the Oracle Arena in Oakland, Calif.

The game was a back-and-forth affair, with the Warriors leading for much of the first half. However, the Pacers made a comeback in the second half, led by Reggie Miller's 28 points and 10 rebounds.

Miller's performance was the key to the Pacers' victory, as he finished with 28 points, 10 rebounds, and 5 assists. He also hit a crucial three-pointer with 1:15 left in the game to seal the win.

The Warriors, who had also lost six straight games, were led by Stephen Curry, who scored 22 points. However, they were unable to overcome the Pacers' comeback.

The win for the Pacers ended their six-game losing streak and gave them a much-needed boost in their season. The Warriors, on the other hand, remain in a losing streak and will look to turn things around in their next game.

UST, La Salle

Reforming media

Opinion editorials are a vital part of any newspaper. They provide a platform for the public to express their views on current events and issues. The media has a responsibility to provide accurate and balanced information to the public.

The media should also be held accountable for its actions. It should not be a tool for propaganda or manipulation. The media should strive for objectivity and fairness in its reporting.

The media should also be a platform for diverse voices. It should not be dominated by a few powerful interests. The media should represent the views of all segments of society.

The media should also be a platform for dialogue and debate. It should not be a place of one-way communication. The media should encourage the exchange of ideas and opinions.

The media should also be a platform for education and enlightenment. It should not be a place of entertainment and distraction. The media should provide information that is useful and informative.

The media should also be a platform for social and political reform. It should not be a place of complacency and conformity. The media should challenge the status quo and advocate for change.

The media should also be a platform for human rights and social justice. It should not be a place of indifference and apathy. The media should stand up for the rights of the oppressed and the marginalized.

The media should also be a platform for peace and reconciliation. It should not be a place of division and conflict. The media should promote understanding and harmony between different groups and communities.

The media should also be a platform for national development and progress. It should not be a place of stagnation and backwardness. The media should provide information that is relevant and useful for the nation's future.

Definitely brutal

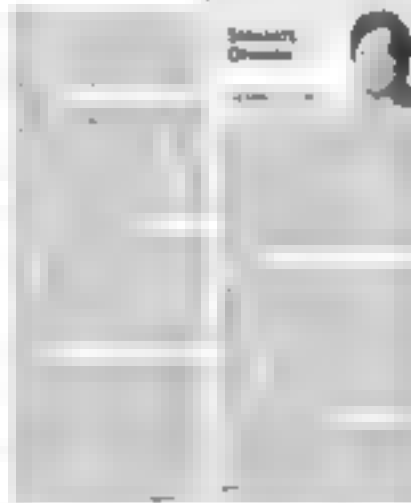

The Philippines is a country with a long and rich history. It has a diverse population and a unique culture. The Philippines has made significant progress in many areas, but it still faces many challenges.

The Philippines needs to continue to reform and improve itself. It needs to strengthen its institutions and its economy. It needs to protect its environment and its human rights. It needs to promote peace and reconciliation.

Who will bear brunt of a VAT hike?

THE CHANCE of a 1% VAT hike is a possibility that has been discussed for some time. The government has been looking for ways to raise revenue to fund its budget. A VAT hike is one of the options that have been considered. However, it is not a simple matter. The government has to consider the impact on the economy and on different groups of people. A VAT hike will increase the price of goods and services, which will lead to inflation. This will affect everyone, but it will affect different groups in different ways. The government has to consider the impact on the poor, the middle class, and the rich. The poor will be hit hardest, as they will have to pay more for the same goods and services. The middle class will be hit less, as they will have more resources to absorb the increase. The rich will be hit least, as they will have the most resources to absorb the increase.

Mt. De Oro not for small scale mining

By [illegible]
[illegible]

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of the Interior has announced that it will not allow small-scale mining on Mount De Oro, a 10,000-foot mountain in the Sierra Nevada range in California. The decision was made after a long and costly legal battle with the state of California, which had been allowing small-scale mining on the mountain since 1970. The U.S. Department of the Interior said that the mountain is a "National Monument" and that small-scale mining is not allowed on such land. The state of California had argued that small-scale mining was a traditional use of the land and that it should be allowed. The U.S. Department of the Interior said that it had considered the arguments and had decided that small-scale mining was not in the best interests of the nation.

story to keep repeating itself in the future, engineer Bong Lim, chief of the MGB permits division, said.

Gold panning

Around Monte de Oro, Lim pointed out, are other gold panning towns of Nabunturan and Pantukan, where small miners operate. He said that in the Pantukan area alone, small miners run gold panning operations in 13 barangays.

"Local investors would always grab any chance to lay their hands on the gold," he said, "Although, we've been warning them of the great risks they face."

"There's a big possibility that after they invest, all of a sudden, wala na," he said.

But Castillo said the mining firms need tremendous amounts of capital to make their operations viable.

While big firms conduct aero-magnetic surveys and rock sampling studies, small-scale firms mostly rely on guesswork and luck. "Which is really dangerous, and usually end up with tremendous loss of money," he said.

But from the number of tunnels dug in Monte de Oro, one can glean the huge amount of money that was spent in the place, he said.

He said the recent reversal of the Supreme Court ruling in favor of the entry of foreign mining firms will eventually usher in a tie-up with big mining firms.

IT'S a flip flop invasion.

There's nothing like it. Haulies, the Brazilian brand made famous by the Oscar-winning hip, Jennifer Aniston and Glee's Brad Pitt, has flip-flopped its way to the shores of countless Filipinos.

Brands run out all the time and finding out when the new collection comes in is a privileged information. Flip flops have become more than just a beach staple—people wear them everywhere and with everything.

Now, the adorable little people can join in on the fun. Because there's a Haulies collection for them, too.

Thanks to the Brazilian company's secret recipe for buttery soft soles, kids from two to seven years old can wear these sturdy flip flops for play dates, on busy days at the mall and for running around after school.

The colorful collection features Haulies in classic designs and other pairs spruced up with images of butterflies, dinosaurs, fish and other cute animals.

Now if only my little brother didn't have such huge feet.

Haulies for little people are available at Blockbuster in Rockwell, Power Plant Mall and Mid-Sports in Shangri-La Mall. Haulies for big people are available at Bazaar's U in Makati, Aura Achitica in Power Plant Mall and Ball Spa on Greenhills Street, Lungsod Village Makati, and Shangri-La Mall.

By Joseph J. George

When Francisca Dulan and Venancio Flores were married in 1944, they were young adults. Now, at 80 and 82, they are still young at heart. The couple, who have been married for 60 years, are celebrating their anniversary in a special way. They are having a party at the home of their daughter, Patricia, in Phoenix. The party will be a celebration of their love and the life they have lived together.
